

Washington Journalism
and Media Conference

Brynn Brown Will Travel to Washington, D.C. for Prestigious Journalism Conference

News from George Mason University's Washington Journalism and Media Conference.

For more information contact: Elena Johnson, Director of the Washington Journalism and Media Conference, wjmc@gmu.edu

FAIRFAX, VA (Thursday February 22, 2024 10:53:19 AM)--

Brynn Brown, a student at Stephen T Badin High School (Hamilton, OH, US), has been selected to represent Fairfield, OH as a National Youth Correspondent to the 2024 Washington Journalism and Media Conference at George Mason University.

Brown joins a select group of students from all over the country for an intensive study of journalism and media. Brown was chosen based on academic accomplishments and a demonstrated interest and excellence in journalism and media studies. National Youth Correspondents participate in hands-on, experiential learning through decision-making simulations that challenge them to solve problems and explore the creative, practical, and ethical tensions inherent in journalism and media. The experiential portion of the program is complemented by speakers who are well-known leaders in the media community. Presenters include prominent journalists, CEOs of major media outlets, researchers, and recent college graduates successfully entering the field. Past speakers have included Hoda Kotb from NBC, Brian Lamb from C-SPAN, Pulitzer Prize winning photographer Carol Guzy, and Susan Goldberg from National Geographic.

With distinguished faculty, guest speakers, and direct access to elite D.C. practitioners, the Washington Journalism and Media Conference offers aspiring journalists and student leaders an unparalleled experience. The week long program, held at George Mason University's state-of-the-art campus, will encourage and inspire young leaders from across the country who desire a unique experience focused on successful careers in this dynamic industry.

The Washington Journalism and Media Conference will be held July 7 to July 12, 2024.

About George Mason University

George Mason University is setting the gold standard for the modern, public university. Its dynamic culture and innovative academic programs prepare Mason's hard-working students for 21st century careers. Its commitment to teaching excellence combines with cutting-edge research that enriches the academic experience and is changing the world. Mason is affordable, yet offers high value. Ideally located in the National Capital region, students enjoy terrific cultural experiences and access to the most sought-after internships and employers in the country.

About the 2024 Washington Journalism and Media Conference

The Washington Journalism and Media Conference (WJMC) is a unique student leadership conference designed to develop and encourage future leaders in the changing face of media in the 21st century. The Advisory Board includes CEOs of media outlets, distinguished journalists and renowned authors and university faculty. For more information visit us online at wjmc.gmu.edu.

The Washington Journalism and Media Conference | 4400 University Drive | MSN 3A4 | Fairfax, VA 22030